A visit to the Noe Tibetan Children's Home in Northern India: 9-17 February

Fr Jock writes: 'When I was teaching for a year in India in 1979 -80, I made friends with a remarkable Tibetan refugee couple, Pema, a Christian, and Mega, a Buddhist. Soon after I returned to the UK, Pema wrote asking for help with the Children's Home she had started and so in 1982 a friend and I formed 'The Friends of the Noe Tibetan Children's Home', and with a group of other friends committed ourselves to supporting Pema's initiative. Since then over 250 children have passed through the Home, and Pema, a woman of remarkable energy and exuberance, has also founded a school (now 1,000 strong) for the local Indian children. I have gone out every 4 years or so ensure the personal link of friendship, central to the whole project, is nurtured with Pema and Mega – and I would have visited them last February, except that I had only just arrived here in Portobello. So on Monday 9 February, I fly out to India for a short visit – returning on Tuesday 17 February, in time for Ash Wednesday! While I'm away, Fr John Robinson will cover Monday to Wednesday, and then Fr Tabone will be in residence from Thursday 11 February for a week ...'. For more information on Pema and her remarkable story, google 'The Friends of the Noe Tibetan Children's Home'.

REFLECTION: Speaking with authority

Ideally, words should always be preceded by deeds.
When people who have done something begin to speak, people listen.
Their words carry enormous weight. They have real authority.
The weakness of a lot of words arises from the fact that they are not preceded, or accompanied, or even followed by deeds.
At the root of innumerable wrongs in our world is the discrepancy between word and deed.
It is the weakness of Churches, parties, and individuals.
It gives people and institutions split personalities.
Lord, grant that what we have said with our lips,
we may practise with our hearts,
and practice with our lives.'

PEACE

Jean Vanier, Community & Growth, p177.

'So many in our world today are suffering from isolation, war and oppression. So much money is spent on the construction of armaments. Many, many young people are in despair ... today as never before, we need communities of welcome; communities that are a sign of peace in a world of war. There is no point in praying for peace in the Middle East, for example, if we are not peace-makers in our own community. Young people, as well as those who are older, are sensitive to this vision of peace. It must continually be announced so that hearts and minds are nourished.'

A MEDITATION ON THE MEANING OF THE EUCHARIST

BY DONAL HARRINGTON

This meditation is one of a series, each of which takes a different theme, to explore the meaning from a different angle. Each meditation concludes with a question for reflection. This in turn may be experienced as an invitation to prayer.

EXPLORING EUCHARIST

Eucharist is ... Body of Christ

Sometime around the year 44, Saint Augustine gave a remarkable homily on the Eucharist. His audience was a group of newly baptised adults and he was telling them about the inner meaning of this mystery. He began with the question: ‘How can this bread be Christ’s body and what the chalice contains, his blood?’

He continued by quoting the words of Saint Paul, ‘You are the body of Christ and his members.’ He went on ‘If, therefore, you are the body of Christ and his members, it is your own mystery that has been placed on the table of the Lord. It is your own mystery that you receive.’

Then: ‘To this which you are you respond “Amen” and, in responding, you accept it. What you hear is “the Body of Christ” and to this you respond “Amen”. So, be a member of Christ’s body, that your Amen may be true.’ Later he says, ‘Be what you see and accept what you are.’

This is a great enrichment. When we hear ‘body of Christ’ we are used to thinking of the consecrated host, or of the physical body of Jesus when he walked the earth. We are less used to thinking of ourselves! And yet, this is what Paul and Augustine, two towering figures in our tradition, wanted to communicate to us – that we are Christ’s body, that (in Augustine’s words) ‘It is the mystery of our peace and unity which he consecrates on his table.’

When we return from receiving communion we pray quietly. Maybe there is something here to add to our meditation. Maybe we might think: ‘Not only have I received communion – I have also entered into communion, as a member of the communion that is Christ’s body.’ Besides closing our eyes in prayer, we might also look up, at the body of Christ around us, and say, ‘Amen’.

For reflection

Think about the meaning of the phrases from Augustine in italics.
