An Extra Leaving Collection this Sunday – THE SCIAF EMERGENCY APPEAL in response to the INDONESIAN EARTHQUAKE AND TSUNAMI

Alistair Dutton, the Director of SCIAF, writes: 'As you will have seen in the media, the Indonesian island of Sulawesi has suffered a 7.5 magnitude earthquake which was quickly followed by a devastating tsunami. Six-metre-high waves swept through the city of Palu. Early estimates tell us that over 1,300 people are dead, hundreds more are injured, and many homes, businesses and local services are destroyed. 48,000 people have been left homeless. Arriving in Palu this morning, Caritas team member Fatwa Fadillah said: 'The road between Donggala and Palu is lined with people pleading for food and water. They are asking every vehicle that passes for help. They are thirsty and afraid because they don't know when they will have water again. The destruction is extreme. People are looking to get help or get out of the area.' SCIAF immediately released £20,000 for Caritas Indonesia's response and we are now appealing for donations to provide life-saving humanitarian aid in the first weeks, and then help people to rebuild their lives and livelihoods. We are strongly encouraging supporters to give generously so that we can help our brothers and sisters in their hour of need. Responding to a disaster of this magnitude presents huge challenges. Limited communications, damaged roads, bridges and airports make it extremely difficult to get emergency aid to survivors quickly. SCIAF's partners and others are doing everything they can to get help to people as quickly as possible. In this month of October, please pray to Our Lady for those who have lost their lives, loved ones, home and livelihoods in this terrible natural disaster.' If you wish to contribute online visit www.sciaf.org.uk or by calling 0141 354 5555.

A Training Course for New Eucharistic Ministers will take place in St John's Hall on the first three Mondays in November. Fr Jock writes: 'The emergence of eucharistic ministers – or, to give them their full title, 'Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion' – is for me one of the greatest legacies of the Second Vatican Council. It has made possible both 'Communion under both kinds' being offered at every Mass and 'Eucharistic Services' ('Services of the Word with Holy Communion') when there is no Priest available; it has ensured that all those who are housebound can receive communion regularly (often leading to very beautiful friendships between those bringing and receiving communion); and it has deepened countless people's faith and involvement in their parish community. If you would like to recommend a person to be a eucharistic minister, please do approach a member of the pastoral team or myself....and, please, if I approach you and invite you to consider training, do try to be open to the invitation....and remember, a sense of unworthiness (so often offered as a reason for refusing) is the best possible starting point to begin training...!'

The Joint Parish Ceilidh 'is fast approaching – it's on Friday 2 November @ the Danderhall Miners Club from 7.30pm to midnight. Music this year is again by the fantastic 'Flaming Nora' band. Tickets are now on sale at £10 per ticket and includes supper. Tickets will be sold after all the weekend masses by Madge Moyes at St Mary Magdalene's & Catherine McAnenny at St John's. You can also contact Catherine on 07968970159. Numbers are limited to 200, so get your ticket early so as not to be disappointed!

A THANK YOU CARD FROM BARBARA SERVICE - who recently retired as Head Teacher of St John’s Primary:

‘To the Parishioners of St John’s and St Mary Magdalene’s – many thanks for your very generous gift of vouchers on the occasion of my retirement as Head Teacher at St John’s RC Primary. They are much appreciated. It has been an overwhelming few weeks with many memorable events, tinged with real emotion. It has been heart-warming to have your support during these days. I have been privileged to have been leading St John’s for the past 13 years and have very much enjoyed the friendship of the Parish Priests and the parish teams. I know that going forward these relationships will continue to flourish.’

...AND ONE FROM SR PENNIE MACINNES – of the Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary.

‘Thank you very much for the warm welcome you gave me when I visited your Parish for the Mission Appeal in August, I thoroughly enjoyed my visit, and all the lovely Parishioners I met. Thank you so much for the generous donations of £994.85 (St John’s) and £922.62 (St Mary Magdalene’s) from your parishes towards the work of the Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary throughout the world. Every penny will go to those most vulnerable and needy and will make such a difference to their lives. Be assured of our prayers for you and the parish.’

Legion of Mary All Night Vigil – (This) Friday 19 October – St Catharine’s Convent

Maria Igoe writes: ‘The Annual Legion of Mary All-Night Prayer Vigil will be held in St Catharine’s Convent, Lauriston Gardens on Friday 19 October, beginning at 10pm and finishing on Saturday 20 October with Holy Mass at 8am. Each hour is divided under the patronage of different titles of Our Lady. There will be prayers and music throughout, and tea and snacks will be provided for breaks and sustenance. This is a great opportunity to pray for vocations to the Priesthood and Religious life. It is not as difficult as it may seem to pray during the night, and it is hugely satisfying to have made the effort. Further details can be had from me on 669 0247.’

At St Patrick’s in the Cowgate - SCIAF Share the Journey Exhibition – Stories from the Rohingya Refugees in Bangladesh – 10 October-9 November 2018: ‘This exhibition is open every day from 8.00am – 6.00pm. All welcome to attend.’

A TALK AT QUEEN MARGARET UNIVERSITY BY EMMA WOOD AND GIFT THOMSON – FRIDAY 26 OCTOBER – 12noon-1pm – ‘A new & respectful model of voluntourism co-produced with marginalised young people from Malawi.’ Queen Margaret University, Queen Margaret

University Way, Musselburgh EH21 6UU

‘Critical views of voluntourism* and white saviour complex are widespread, but marginalised voices are missing from the debate. QMU senior lecturer, Emma Wood and Gift Thompson, a resident of the STEKA children's home in Malawi, will talk about a co-produced project developed over two years - and piloted at STEKA in June 2018 (with a group of 20 visiting pupils from Gleniffer High School, Paisley). It is designed to give power to the marginalised young people living at STEKA to direct how visits to their home should be. They are developing a new model of dignified voluntourism which counters accusations of poverty tourism, and white saviourism. The STEKA Dialogues aims to be a respectful two way approach, developed through dialogue between marginalised young people in Malawi and Scottish school pupils, to enable the Malawians to earn a sustainable income and the Scots to develop new and profound knowledge to share with wider audiences at home. Gleniffer's teachers will join the discussion to share their response to their pupils' participation in the STEKA Dialogue Groups and the impact this has had’. See www.stekaskills.com for more details.

BACKGROUND

*Voluntourism (where tourists travel to the Global South to 'help') is a growth area within the tourism sector and tourism-oriented Non Governmental Organisations (NGOs) are becoming increasingly relevant as an alternative and legitimate source of development aid for poverty reduction.

Much current practice however (for example volunteer tourists, doing unpaid work or bringing donations) can be interpreted as problematic in relation to cultural and intellectual imperialism, volunteer tourists' lack of authentic engagement with local populations; and the potential for poor alignment between volunteer aid projects and the needs/values of local populations.

And, despite their best intentions, many Global North teenagers often can't articulate what they learn from their volunteer experience and consequently can reinforce aid-framed values to wide audiences through social media (posting 'selfies' posing with babies for 'likes') which are being interpreted as 'careless self-gratification and self-promotion'. A host of young adults' blogs reflect on these experiences with embarrassment - viewing their social media activity in countries like Malawi as demonstrating an embarrassing 'saviour complex' which 'is condescending because it implies that you're a hero while those locals are helpless'. They talk about having taken 'de-humanising photographs' and argue that they reinforced ideas that countries in the Global South 'need to be saved by a White, western influence...continuing to propagate a colonial mindset.'

Archdiocesan Youth Day (10-15yr olds): Saturday 3 November

Fr Daniel Doherty, Vicar Episcopal for Catachetics, writes: 'Young people in the 10-15 age range are invited to an Archdiocesan Youth Day led by Archbishop Cushley and held at the Gillis Centre in Edinburgh. 11am to 2.30pm. The theme of the day will be "The Saints". Please bring a packed lunch. To reserve places, contact Youth3Nov@gmail.com by Friday 26 October.'

WE WILL REMEMBER THEM - Centenary Remembrance of the End of the First World War - at St Ninian's on Saturday/Sunday 10/11 November

Des Brogan writes: To commemorate the ending of WW1, St Ninian's Parish are organising a series of events on 10 and 11 November. Students at St Ninian's Primary school are preparing exhibitions which will be displayed in the grounds surrounding the church. All parishioners have been invited to submit names of family members who served in the forces and this information will feature in an exhibition to be held within the church itself.

On Saturday 10 November at 7pm a specially written work consisting of the spoken word, music and silent reflection will be performed in the church by young people of the parish and to which everyone in the Cluster parishes is invited. A special liturgy will be celebrated at 10.15am on Remembrance Sunday 11 November to which everyone is also invited.'

...and at St John's and St Mary Magdalene's on Thursday 15 November

'On this centenary anniversary month of the end of the Great War we recall the sacrifice made by so many young men from Scotland in general and Edinburgh in particular. Who were they? Why were there so many casualties? Where did they all come from? On Thursday 15 November at 7.30pm in St John's Church, there will be an illustrated talk by Des Brogan on this topic. He will attempt to answer these questions using photographs and source material from the time.'

Preparing for the Year of Saint Luke: A Day at the Gillis Centre on Saturday 17 November

Archbishop Leo writes: 'With the start of a new liturgical year upon the first Sunday of Advent we will embark upon Lectionary Cycle C and the Gospel of Saint Luke. To prepare ourselves, there will be a seminar day on the Gospel of Saint Luke on Saturday 17 November at the Gillis Centre from 11am to 3.30pm. The day will consist of a presentation on Saint Luke by Father Andrew Garden as well as directed prayer and a presentation on public reading. The event is open to both clergy and the lay faithful, especially those who are lectors or catechists. Those attending should bring a packed lunch. Please contact Father Daniel Doherty VE at VECatechetics@staned.org.uk to book a place or if you have an enquiry.'
